

Understanding the Constitution

American Principles of Government

In 1787 the founders of our great nation met in convention in Philadelphia. The final product of their work, the United States Constitution, became the single greatest model for government in the history of the world. The past 231 years represent the longest time in recorded history that a free nation has existed. What foundational principles did they focus on to ensure liberty for future generations?

As a nation we have done far more to protect the physical paper of the original Constitution than we have protected and taught the principles that it enshrines.

This enlightening lecture series covers the principles of government that the founders embraced and built into the Constitution. Students will learn how these principles are just as relevant today as they were 231 years ago – not only for our national government, but for our state and local governments as well!

The class consists of twenty hours of lectures taught by Constitutional expert Brian Ervin (President of Heritage Research Institute). While the class is a must for every American, this presentation is best suited for those at a High School Level and above.

This is the first class offered in two years-
Don't miss this opportunity!!

What former students say about this course...

"Riveting... a class full of 'must know' information"

"This class was an awakening for me. I did not realize how little I knew or understood about the Constitution."

"A class that should be required for every single American"
